1.2 User Story

Mike Regan

"As a business I always wanted to have a good website for my company. I have lots of users in my business and my office also has many staffs. By having a good website I can solve my business problems. But problems often occurs in business such as not getting latest documents by users, old media contents, lack of communication to the user through system etc. Problems are rising as the business is also growing. A good web solution is needed to give solution such as give latest documents to website and latest images on the webpage, easy to renew site pages regularly etc which will help in getting business process faster."
